Shocked Hillary
Clinton got a dose of reality from
Barack Obama

In a blunt no-holds-barred conversation, Barack Obama told Hillary Clinton to abandon her quest to be America's first woman President - because she'll NEVER beat Republican Donald Trump.

Sources tell GLOBE Obama is convinced The Donald, who is dominating the GOP race, will crush Clinton in a general election and destroy the Democrats' chance to retain the Oval Office.

The President's frank analysis is just another blow for Clinton, who is reeling from a mushrooming scandal involving Top Secret government e-mails, while Trump rides a tidal wave of popularity.

"Obama has no doubt that Trump would kick Hillary's butt," says one insider. "He and other top Democrats want a stronger candidate to run. They fear Hillary will be the downfall of the party.

"Recent polls show voters are tired of her, but wildly excited about Trump.

"Obama's convinced the only hope is for Joe Biden to run and has all but endorsed him. He's saying making Biden his Vice President was the best decision he ever made."

The source says Barack is convinced Trump would spend millions to pound away at Hillary's scandals, cover-ups and lies - and she'd never survive the scrutiny.

"He told her she has covered up her e-mail scandal and lied about playing fast and loose with national security secrets as Secretary of State," the source says.

As GLOBE has revealed, Hillary is terrified of Trump, but she refuses to quit. She believes Obama should honor his pledge to support her presidential bid. But she's vowing to carry on with or without the President's backing.

"I'm not going to let Barack Obama tell me what to do!" she told aides. "I don't need him trying to sabotage my campaign."

IS SANDRA HEADED FOR HEARTBREAK?

SANDRA BULLOCK's new love may crash and burn — just like her marriage to cheating ex-hubby Jesse James!

Court documents show the Miss Congeniality star's new squeeze, L.A.-based photographer Bryan Randall, has been accused of being anything BUT congenial!

In 2012, Bryan's neighbor John Stacer filed a temporary restraining order against the former model, claiming the hunk smeared dog poop on his front door and threatened him.

In a police report of the incident, Stacer stated, "I know he has guns and a notoriously erratic temper, and I am scared of what he will do next."

However, a judge declined to make the restraining order permanent.

And that's not the only time Bryan's been in hot water with the law. His rap sheet includes a felony charge for driving with a suspended license, which he eventually pleaded down to a misdemeanor.

Bryan, 49, is Sandra's first

Bullock's new boyfriend HIT WITH RESTRAINING ORDER AFTER SHOCKING INCIDENTS

Michelle "Bombshell" McGee, spilled the intimate details of her sordid affair with the Monster Garage host just days after Sandra won an Oscar for her role in The Blind Side. The cheaters were also caught posing in Nazi regalia, furthering Sandra's humiliation.

If Sandra knows about her new man's troubled past, it doesn't seem to be spoiling the romance.

The two met through mutual friends and have been dating for "several months," says a source. The actress even brought the 6-foot-3 heart-stopper with her to Jennifer Aniston and Justin Theroux's super-secret Aug. 5 wedding, where they were spotted acting "very affectionate" toward one another.

Sandra, still a knockout at 51, and Bryan, a blue-eyed silver fox, have more in common than just their movie-star good looks. Both are single parents. Sandra is a doting mom to 5-year-old son Louis, while Bryan has a daughter.

FORMER Hollywood king Burt Reynolds has wasted away to a skeletal 98 pounds and has only weeks to live, stunned sources reveal.

"It's so sad to see what's happened to him," says a source close to the star. "Burt's reeled from one health crisis after the other.

"We fear he has only weeks to live – and he simply doesn't care anymore."

Burt's waterfront mansion

The 79-year-old Smokey and the Bandit star was once a strapping 5-foot-11, 175-pound running back at Florida State and a global sex symbol. He made history after posing nude in Cosmopolitan magazine in 1972 and was once one of Tinseltown's highest paid actors.

But now, battles with heart disease and pain pill addiction combined with shattering financial setbacks have left him a lonely recluse at his Hobe Sound, Fla., estate in his desperate final days.

"Burt mopes alone in his mansion trying to understand why he's been reduced to such a lowly state," says another source. "He's bitter and consumed by regrets and seems to have lost the will to live."

Says another source, "He's lost so much weight and his right knee buckles when he walks, even with the help of a cane.

"It's just so sad to see him wasting away like this."

Ironically, Reynolds was a star most of his early life. In high school and college, he was a top football player. After injuries wrecked his college gridiron career, he headed for Hollywood.

Former college jock Burt was a strapping hunk in Deliverance. Now, he's wasted away and has to walk with a cane TV in the late '50s, he landed regular roles on 1960's drama Riverboat and then the hit western Gunsmoke.

From then on, he was busy on TV and then broke through on the silver screen in 1972's Deliverance, as the tough archer who defends his city slicker pals from Georgia hillbillies.

Then came hits like The Longest Yard and the Bandit movies making him a box office king. Off-screen, he was catnip to gals. He had a two-year marriage to actress Judy Carne and five-year union with Loni Anderson. His list of gal pals includes Catherine Deneuve, Farrah Fawcett, Raquel Welch, Sally Field, Tammy Wynette, Dinah Shore and tennis star Chris Evert.

But his life seemed to plunge into a downward spiral from the early '90s. Burt filed for divorce from Loni in 1993, agreeing to a staggering $40 million settlement. He was also battling an addiction to the painkiller Halcion he developed fighting a jaw injury.

THEN

His physical problems also mushroomed. He underwent back surgery in 2009 and later that year checked into rehab to battle booze and painkiller addictions.

The following year, he had quintuple heart bypass surgery. In 2013, he was rushed to the hospital suffering a severe case of dehydration and the flu. His finances have also plummeted, eaten away by divorce settlements, high living and bad investments.

Agony

For the past years, banks have been threatening to boot him from his $4.9 million estate. Ex-wife Anderson has sued him for $154,000 he still owes from their divorce.

Strapped for cash and trying to ward off foreclosure, he was forced to auction off $2.5 million worth of his memorabilia last year.

He's gaunt with shrunken eyes and in agony from arthritis and back pain.

"The physical and mental pain of his plight has led Burt back into using Halcion," says another source.

And sadly, the one-time chick-magnet has no girlfriend to keep him company.

"He's a lonely old man who hobbles along on his cane," says the source. "He's kept awake at night by money issues and the thought he soon won't have a roof over his head. I don't think Burt cares any more whether he lives or dies. It's tragic."

WILLIAM CO

IN a shocking and brutal showdown, livid Prince William accused his father Charles of masterminding his mother Diana's murder, royal insiders reveal.

After learning Queen Elizabeth believes Prince Charles had someone "grease the brakes" on his ex-wife's car before the deadly crash in a Paris tunnel, enraged William confronted his father – and demanded the truth about his mom's 1997 death, a Palace source says.

During a face-off in his father's study at Highgrove House, William screamed, "You killed my mother! You have her blood on your hands," the source reveals.

"Charles was stunned and taken aback by the accusation. He stuttered and sputtered and told William, 'No, no, you've got it all wrong. I didn't have anything to do with her death.' "

But William wouldn't hear it!

The source says the 33-year-old Prince raged at his dad, "Even your own mother, the Queen, believes you had someone tamper with the brakes on the car! You've lied to me all these years! I'm done with you!"

Charles pleaded with William to hear him out and said, "Why would I kill your mother? We

Now Kate is urging hubby to demand new investigation

CONFRONTS CHARLES

ER DIANA'S MURDER!

The wrecked Mercedes, Diana and her lover, Dodi, and her funeral procession were already divorced. I had no reason to want her dead. I loved her in my own way. She was the mother of my sons. I'd never do that to you and Harry. I'm not a killer. And being involved in such a terrible crime would surely bring down the monarchy," according to the source.

William eventually calmed down, "but left in turmoil," the source reveals.

Another insider says, "Now, William doesn't know who to believe – or who to trust besides his wife, Kate, and brother.

Both are deeply shocked – and Kate is pushing him to ask officials to reopen the investigation into Diana's death."

There's a growing "mountain of evidence pointing to a cover-up and murder," says the insider.

As GLOBE recently reported,

Britain's Monarch has confessed she believes Charles had a hand in Diana's death. But an official inquest ruled the crash was just a tragic accident.

However, that conclusion is widely viewed as a whitewash riddled with inconsistencies and unanswered questions.

Russian author Gennady Sokolov believes agents from the British Secret Service carried out the murder – acting on orders from the Palace!

And last week, GLOBE exposed a damning dossier compiled by the FBI and CIA but suppressed from the public. Called The Diana File, the documents reveal William's mother could have survived – and later was deliberately embalmed to hide her pregnancy with her Muslim lover, Dodi Fayed. The file also reveals witnesses, experts and lawmen lied in their inquest testimony.

The cover-up is so blatant William's wife, Kate, is eager to have Scotland Yard reopen the investigation.

"To a great degree, William has been living in denial," says the insider. "Now, he's not sure what to believe. On one hand, he can't believe his father would risk so much to dispose of a wife he had already divorced.

"But on the other hand is a mountain of doubt. The inquest was obviously fixed. The question is why and by whom?

"William seems ready to listen to Kate's pleading and do whatever it takes to find answers to those questions – even if they lead to his own father."

89-LB. MODEL BETRAYED BY HER OWN BODY!

BLONDE Lisa Brown has wasted away from a healthy, stunning 140-pound model to an 89-pound bag of bones who has to be fed through a tube due to a rare condition that is starving her to death.

Sadly, docs say Brown, 32, and the estimated 400 other patients being treated for Superior Mesenteric Artery Syndrome (SMAS) around the world, have just a 30 percent chance of surviving.

SMAS occurs when the aorta and mesenteric arteries pinch part of the small intestine - cutting off nutrients and starving the body. Surgery is highly difficult and dangerous.

In just two years, Brown's weight has plummeted 56 pounds - ONE THIRD of her body weight, leaving her skeletal, weak and in agony from daily bouts of vomiting.

"I was vibrant, social, healthy and spirited - and now I'm in constant pain, rely on others and I'm confined to my home most days," she says.

"The disease has taken everything. Time spent with family used to be recreational and fun. The more ill I become, the more those things come to a halt."

She also has to suffer from the cruel looks and remarks of strangers who think she has an eating disorder like anorexia.

THEN

Model Lisa Brown poses next to a car in her healthy days

Her husband, Patrick, fears for her life, saying, "I am terrified her condition can become worse."

Once, the Wisconsin beauty lived a full life and even modeled. But then SMAS struck and her appetite began to vanish.

"I wasn't noticing the weight loss at first, just that suddenly I wouldn't be able to eat as much as I used to," she recalls.

When she realized her weight was plunging, "I was scared," she says. Then she was hit by crippling pain that felt like "two metal fists grabbing as tight as possible and twisting my intestines."

Brown was diagnosed with the rare disorder after visiting three hospitals and undergoing a slew of CT scans. Now, she eats through a stomach tube.

Two operations have failed to correct the condition, and her future reportedly looks grim.

Says her husband, "I'm scared."

GREEN BERET BOOTED FOR ATTACKING CHILD RAPIST

— NOW HE'S FIGHTING TO WIN HIS JOB BACK

A RMY brass triggered a firestorm by booting decorated Green Beret Charles Martland after he roughed up a perverted Afghan cop who raped a 12-year-old boy then beat the kid's mom when she confronted him!

Now, the Bronze Star winner is battling to get back his job, while Pentagon brass decline to comment on their outrageous action against the heroic sergeant, who was slapped with an involuntary discharge.

Stand for what's right

But Martland should be applauded for his actions, not punished says Congressman Duncan Hunter (R-Calif.) who insists the soldier “was left with no other choice but to intervene” and the “Army should stand up for what's right and not side with a corrupt Afghan police officer.”

The drama unfolded when the 12-year-old and his mom showed up at the Green Beret camp where Martland

Bronze Star winner Charles Martland and a war dog

Rep. Duncan Hunter (left) blasted Army brass for booting the sergeant was bivouacked. A medic examined the kid and found the boy's hands had been tied and he'd been raped. His mother was beaten by local police commander Abdul Rahman, who was accused of the 2011 crime.

When Martland and his team leader, Daniel Quinn, learned about the sick sex attack and beating, they confronted the rogue lawman.

“He confessed to the crime and laughed about it,” recalls Quinn. “He kept laughing.”

Infuriated, the Green Berets shoved him around, tossed him on the ground and roughed him up. The creep complained – and the next day Martland and Quinn were reassigned. Later, they were relieved of their jobs pending an investigation.

Hero

Says a former counterterrorism expert, “I would have given Martland an award.” Instead, the former Florida State football player, 33, was kicked out of the Army.

Still, Martland is a hero to the men who served with him.

In 2008, the Boston native was part of a 12-man unit battling evil Taliban killers in Kunduz Province when the team was ambushed.

Martland heroically dashed through a hail of enemy bullets, leaped into the Humvee's gun turret and gave covering fire to his beleaguered buddies.

“I thought he was gone,” says one Green Beret. “Then he came out of nowhere to save us.”

For his heroism, he was awarded the Bronze Star. But protecting a kid and his mom cost Martland the job he loved. Quinn was also discharged and is now working on Wall Street.

“It's sad to think a child rapist is put above our elite military operators,” says a furious Rep. Duncan.

Impress Your Eye Doctor with Outstanding Lens, Retina and Overall Vision Health

Demand skyrockets past 4 million bottles for breakthrough doctor-formulated vision solution

Are you one of the millions taking an eye health supplement hoping for sharper focus, better night vision, less eye strain and anti-aging protection—but you haven't "seen" any real difference? Read on to find out why!

Vitamin Fraud?

"Supplement makers must think consumers are blind and can't clearly see the fraud that exists in store brand supplements. For example, they make claims of improving vision with lutein but only give you 5-10 mg—when the clinical studies demand more!" says Dr. Whitaker of the famous Whitaker Wellness Institute, who has been in medicine more than 35 years and is a leader in the natural health revolution.

"If vitamin makers didn't SKIMP so badly, your eyesight would be a lot sharper and better protected..."

Julian Whitaker, MD

Friends, family members, and patients have turned to Julian Whitaker, MD, for an effective solution to their vision concerns. He developed what is now being called the "Rolls-Royce" of eye health supplements, Vision Essentials.

University Study Confirms Lutein Promotes Macular Health & Visual Acuity!

A recent study shows that you can improve your macular health by getting the proper dosage of lutein in your daily diet. Shockingly, few, if any, other eye supplements contain the researched dosage of 15 mg of lutein found in Vision Essentials®. Why?

"They are trying to skimp on crucial ingredients to make a better profit while Americans watch their eye health deteriorate," argues Dr. Whitaker.

Lutein is only one of the nutrients in Vision Essentials that is "left out" of other eye formulas. It's responsible for helping improve macular health, visual acuity and glare tolerance.

Black Currant Shown to Improve Night Vision in 30 Minutes!

Black currant in a 200 mg dose has been shown in clinical studies to produce measurable improvements in night vision and your ability to adapt from light to dark within 30 minutes.

"The ability to adapt to darkness is essential for driving a car after dark, or performing any task in dim light. This antioxidant-rich powerhouse must be included in any vision supplement," agrees Bill Gottlieb, a 30-year veteran of the health and wellness industry, "but I've only been able to find it in Dr. Whitaker's formula."

"I was not able to drive at night. When I had meetings after 4:00 p.m. I would not attend, and that was a problem. Since taking Vision Essentials, I've been driving at all times in the night; the light from oncoming cars no longer bothers me. It has truly helped my eyes,"* says Elaine Jennings.

"Lutein improves glare tolerance and visual acuity—IF you take the right amount!"

Leading Store Brand Formula Fails to Meet Clinical Standards

One of the leading store brands of eye vitamins geared toward adults 50+ only includes 5 mg of lutein, 1 mg of zeaxanthin, and zero black currant.

These three ingredients alone have been shown at clinical doses to improve visual acuity, night vision, and blood flow to the eyes.

Eye-Health Vitamin Cocktail Guarantees Results

Vision Essentials includes the clinical dose of each ingredient in a special combination to improve the health of every part of your eye.

"There are 17 powerful nutrients in Vision Essentials. Each and every one is crucial to healthy eyes, especially as they'll give you real results that you and your doctor will be able to notice. I guarantee you'll see the difference after just one bottle or you won't pay for it," promises Dr. Whitaker.

Mrs. G. Love confirms, "since taking it, my night vision improved."

Exclusive blend of 17 powerful, clinically researched nutrients not available in stores!

"If you've noticed difficulty reading menus, your cell phone, or books, if your eyes get tired or driving at night has become uncomfortable, you need this essential vision nutrition. Dr. Whitaker's formula is the gold standard when it comes to natural eye health supplements," reports Gottlieb.

Jan Shorey is ecstatic with her results, "I've been taking Vision Essentials for 17 years and I can honestly say that at age 67 I can see better than ever before. My results have been so impressive that four of my friends are taking it as well, all with good results."

PAUL NEWMAN IS JUST A NOTCH ON MY BEDPOST!

PAUL Newman's marriage to Joanne Woodward wasn't so perfect after all!

In a bombshell new biography of "rude, crude" super-agent Sue Mengers, author Brian Kellow blows the lid off the Hollywood heavyweight's sizzling encounter with the Butch Cassidy heartthrob.

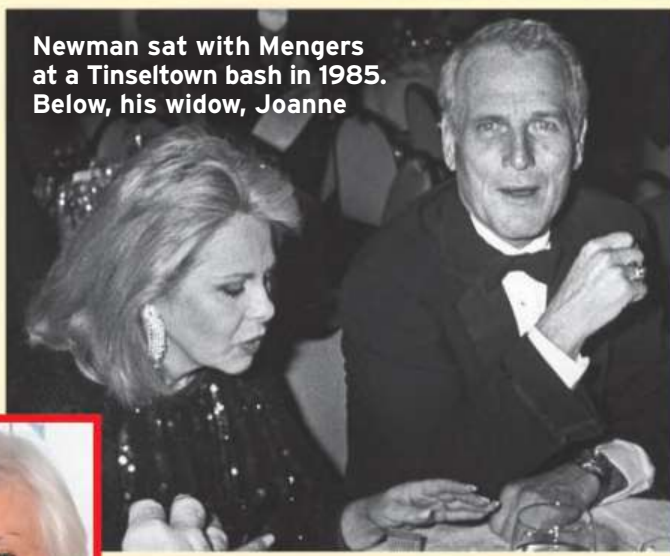

Power player Mengers — whose client list included the likes of Michael Caine, Barbra Streisand, Gene Hackman, and Ryan O'Neal — boasted of enjoying a one-night stand with Newman shortly after she befriended the blue-eyed heartthrob and Woodward.

"It wasn't intercourse," she boasted, "just a b j — but it still counted. It was Paul Newman, after all!"

Now, sources are saying one of Tinseltown's most enduring marriages may have crumbled if Newman hadn't been able to keep the tryst secret.

"Joanne would have been furious," says an industry insider.

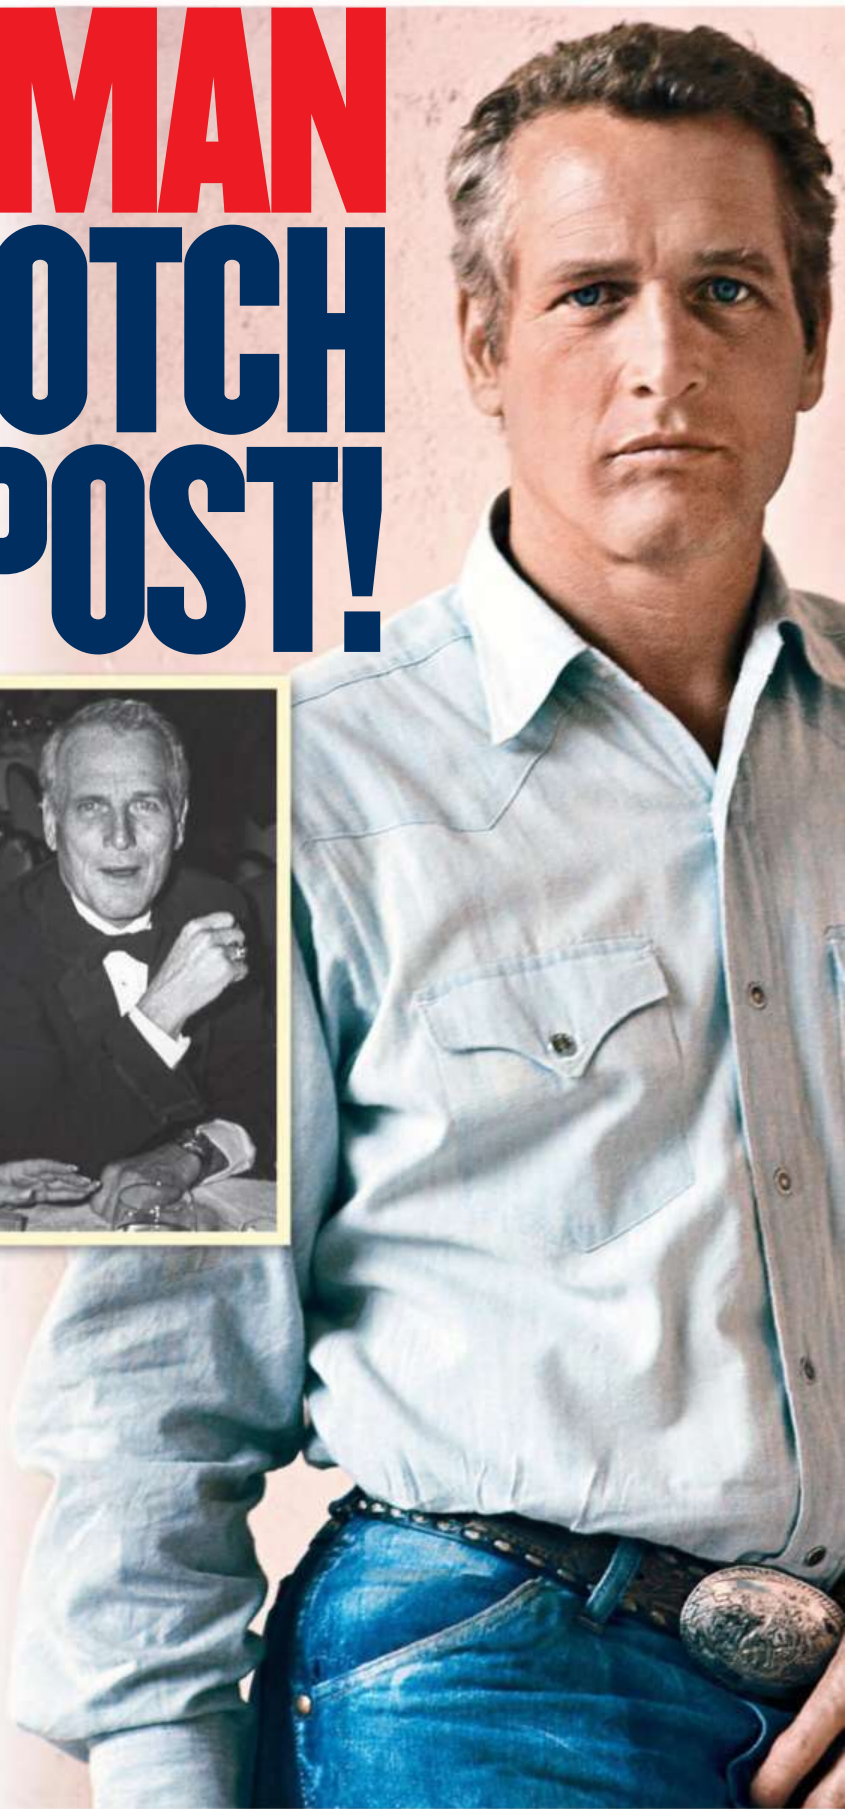

Newman sat with Mengers at a Tinseltown bash in 1985. Below, his widow, Joanne

"They were married for 50 years, and it's always been everyone's impression that their union was one of the most rock-solid in Hollywood."

But that didn't mean it was immune to adultery.

"Paul was one of the biggest male sex symbols in the world, and a lot of women threw themselves at him," continues the insider. "He always told Joanne about how he fought them off and remained faithful.

"While Joanne loved Paul and their marriage was magical, she made it quite clear that she wasn't about to turn a blind eye to his cheating.

"She never, ever would have accepted this from him. It's really so sad to hear about it now."

Larger than life

From the moment Mengers hit Hollywood in 1966, she was a larger-than-life figure known for chain-smoking cigarettes AND marijuana.

In his book, Can I Go Now? The Life of Sue Mengers, Hollywood's First Superagent, Kellow recalls how the ambitious rep threw one of her A-list parties for Britain's Princess Margaret in 1979, hoping it would lead to a Palace invitation.

She blamed Jack Nicholson for ruining her plan by offering cocaine to the Queen's kid sister. But Kellow says the Princess probably didn't mind as she "reportedly spent the night getting tipsy and hitting on John Travolta."

Mengers could also be brutal with competitors, tirelessly bad-mouthing Faye Dunaway for being cast in 1976's Network over Mengers' client, Candice Bergen. When Faye won an Oscar for the role, Mengers hissed, "Don't let this little trophy make Faye think she's a movie star."

Most shockingly, Mengers – who died at age 79 in 2011 – was shameless in sleeping with her clients, even though she was married to director Jean-Claude Tramont from 1973 until his death in 1996.

And Woodward shouldn't have been so naive in thinking that Newman wouldn't stray – considering that her own romance with him reportedly began while he was still a married man.

He wed aspiring actress Jackie Witte in 1949 and, after having three kids with her, fell for Joanne. He was still hitched when he and Joanne started living together in a Malibu, Calif., beach house.

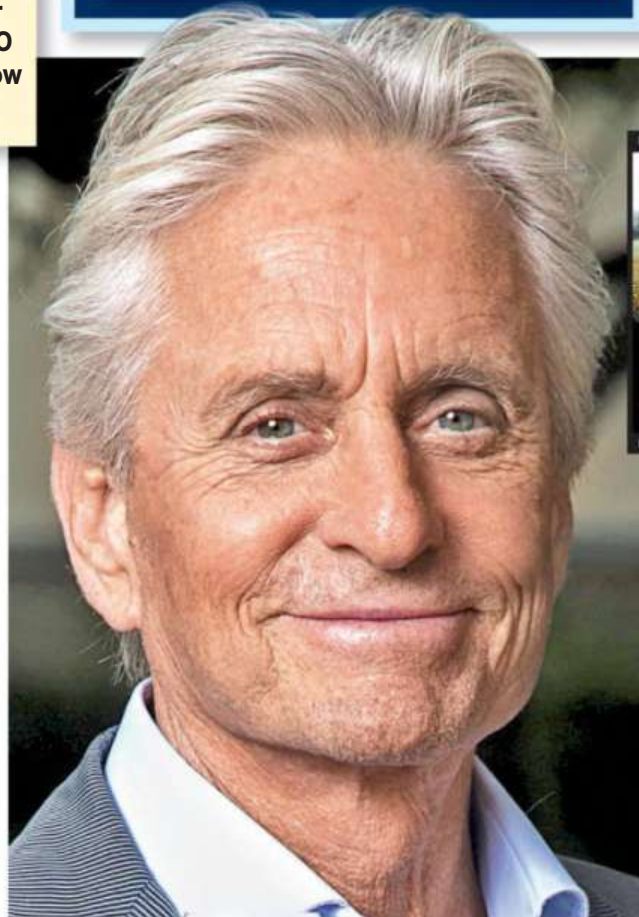

"Guilty as hell" was how Newman described the cheating. "And I'll carry it with me for the rest of my life."

The icon died of cancer at age 83 in 2008, and now Woodward, 85, is ravaged by Alzheimer's, friends fear.

But during their 50-year marriage, the insider says, "Joanne watched Paul like a hawk. Apparently, that wasn't enough."

HANDSOME Michael Douglas has built an acting career to rival that of his famous father, 98-year-old Kirk Douglas. But it wasn't always smooth sailing. Kirk opposed Michael entering showbiz, and the two-time Oscar-winner admits he used to struggle with crippling stage fright. Now 70, Michael is still breaking new ground. His new blockbuster, Ant-Man, is his first-ever special-effects flick. Here are 10 things you may not know about the star:

10 THINGS YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT MICHAEL DOUGLAS

1. Michael's maternal grandfather, Lt. Col. Thomas Melville Dill, was the former Attorney General of Bermuda, where Douglas is building a family-style hotel.

Michael and Catherine share a birthday

2. The cancer survivor is exactly 25 years older than his second wife Catherine Zeta-Jones. The two share a birthday, Sept. 25.

3. His stage fright was so bad in his early career he kept a bucket "right off the stage" in case he vomited.

His favorite foods include wine and coleslaw

4. He was named "Mobil Man of the Month" while working as a gas station attendant when he was 20.

5. He loves coleslaw - and makes his own wine in Majorca, Spain.

6. He prefers watching sports rather than films "because, as opposed to movies, you can never tell how they're going to end."

7. He's an early-to-bed, early-to-rise person.

8. He turned down the role of Oliver Barrett in 1970's Love Story despite being offered 10 percent of the film's gross. The movie made Ryan O'Neal a huge star.

LOVE STORY

Douglas turned down the lead in Love Story

9. Douglas has a hot rod - a beloved '33 Ford with a 327 Chevy engine.

10. His roommate while studying acting in New York City was future Taxi star Danny DeVito.

FAIRBANKS RAGED OVER PICKFORD'S CO-STARS

HOLLYWOOD's first power couple were torn apart by raging jealousy and cheating - just like today's stars!

Silent movie swashbuckler Douglas Fairbanks Sr. and the original America's Sweetheart, Mary Pickford, fell hard for each other in 1915. Even though both were married, they indulged in a passionate affair.

"I worship you," Fairbanks wrote his lover. "The rest of the world means nothing to me. I cannot live without you."

After divorcing their spouses, they got hitched in 1920. But the love story would not end happily.

His serial cheating prompted Pickford to make him jealous by playing a love scene VERY passionately with My Best Girl co-star Buddy Rogers. Fairbanks, notorious for his jealous rages, duly exploded - then got even by bedding a slew of women, leading to the superstars' split in 1933.

MAN STABS GRANDMA 72 TIMES & THEN TORCHES HER BODY

A LAZY, freeloading pothead savagely murdered his own grandmother after she tried to kick him out of her home – then he burned her body and the house!

When black-hearted Derek Poulin was convicted and sentenced to life for the barbaric crime, he didn't bat an eye, prompting the judge to brand him "completely and utterly remorseless."

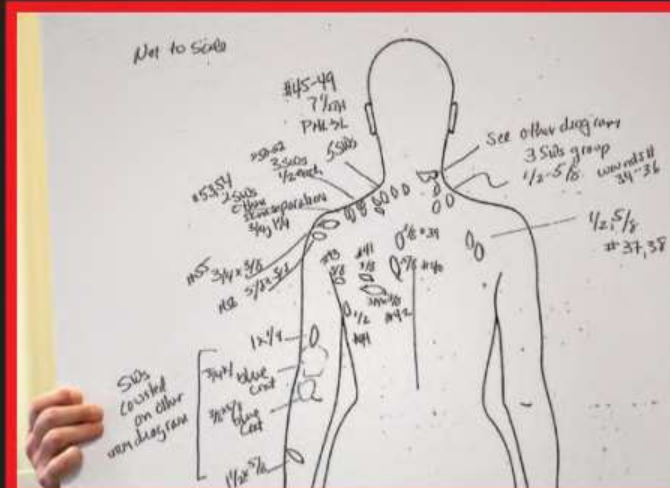

Testimony about the grisly slaying was so horrific, even his own lawyer, Amy Fairfield, said,

“I’m not really shocked by the sentence.”

Physical abuse

Poulin's aunt, Darcy Daniel, testified Noel complained because the creep didn't contribute to the household and abused her physically. The final showdown was terrifying.

Prosecutor Donald Macomber with the knife Derek Poulin (left) wielded in the murder. Below, more evidence, including the wrench used to bash in Noel’s skull

On Oct. 23, 2012, Poulin stabbed his helpless grandma 72 times! He hit her with such force the three-inch blade on the murder weapon was literally bent. But the fiend didn’t stop. He beat her with a golf club and bashed in her skull with a crescent wrench.

Evidence

“It is difficult to imagine a more savage killing,” says an investigator.

Covered in blood, Poulin torched Noel’s body and her bedroom to destroy any evidence, say police. When he fled, he locked the door behind him – figuring it would help his alibi.

Poulin told cops he was out running errands at the time of his grandma’s murder. But surveillance video taken at places he’d supposedly visited – and a lack of receipts – blew giant holes in his story.

And forensic tests proved blood on one of his boots matched the victim’s DNA. Not surprisingly, a jury took just three hours to convict Poulin. Even his own relatives demanded a tough sentence.

“He should spend the rest of his natural life behind bars for what he has done,” said the fiend’s cousin, Brian Burnham.

Noel’s grieving brother, Stephen Kollar, added, “He will dance with the devil forever.”

MACHETE MURDER!

FOUR twisted students butchered a classmate with a machete in the woods and buried him alive as he gasped for air, horrified cops charge.

Then, two of the cold-blooded creeps celebrated the savage murder of 17-year-old Jose Amaya Guardado by having sex at the scene, authorities add.

Ironically, the victim's shattered mother, Lucia Guardado, says Jose came to the U.S. nine years ago to escape the violence in their native El Salvador.

Bloodthirsty band

"I brought my son here because they were killing people," Lucia said at the family's home near Miami, Fla. "I never imagined people would do something like that to him here."

The students all attended the Homestead Jobs Corps campus, a federally operated school for kids ages 16 to 24.

The victim and his accused killers all attended the Homestead Jobs Corps campus in Florida's Miami-Dade County

'THE BODY WAS UNRECOGNIZABLE'

Cops believe deranged Kaheem Arbelo, 20, led the bloodthirsty band. He was the bespectacled victim's roommate and an alleged drug dealer. According to police, a chilling confession from three of the suspects details how they planned the murder for weeks before luring Jose to the woods and ambushing him on June 28.

Arbelo, Jonathan Lucas, 18, and Christian Colon, 19, started slashing Guardado with a machete, say lawmen.

A detective wrote, "The victim made one last attempt to fight off the attackers at which time (Arbelo) struck the victim with the machete several more times until the victim's face caved in."

The fiends then buried Jose, who was still alive, in a shallow grave before burning their clothes and his belongings, cops charge. The killers also stashed the murder weapon and shovel, police say.

While Lucas and Colon returned to school, Arbelo and another alleged accomplice, Desiray Strickland, 18, stayed behind to have sex, police say.

Sadly, Jose's older brothers found his body three days after the murder when they saw two feet sticking out of the ground in a burned area.

"The body was unrecognizable and decomposed," says cousin Ana Morales. "His brothers could not resist looking at it. They were crazy with grief hoping it was not Jose." But it was – and the boy's relatives are crying for justice!

And then he had the nerve to beg, "Please forgive me. Please forgive me...I'm a nice guy."

Kind of turns your stomach, doesn't it?

In his infamous rant, Hogan made a point of saying, "I mean. I am a racist, to a point..." He finished that quote by using the 'N' word.

Now, after his world is falling apart because of his stupid comments, he says, "I'm not a racist, but I never should have said what I said."

If you ask me Hogan, you ARE a racist and a fool...a very BIG fool!

BUSBOY'S CONFESSION: I KILLED BOBBY KENNEDY

Busboy Juan Romero cradled Kennedy's head in the iconic photo after the 1968 shooting but still blames himself for the presidential hopeful's death

HAUNTED BY THE HORROR

THE busboy who comforted Robert F. Kennedy after he was gunned down in the kitchen of L.A.'s Ambassador Hotel blames himself for the beloved politician's death!

An iconic photo shows then-17-year-old Juan Romero kneeling by Kennedy, holding his head. But the Mexican immigrant believes Bobby may have dodged the assassin's bullets if he hadn't stopped to shake hands with Romero in the wee hours of June 5, 1968.

Romero says he "dreaded" the annual anniversary of the tragedy and was eaten alive by guilt for his role in the killing.

Just as Romero reached out to grasp the presidential candidate's hand, shots rang out from the .22-caliber pistol of Palestinian fanatic Sirhan Sirhan, who was convicted of the murder.

The bullets took Kennedy's life – and killed a piece of Romero's soul. He's been haunted by the thought that RFK would have lived – if they hadn't shaken hands.

Just hours before the shooting, the hotel worker had delivered room service to RFK and was struck by his demeanor.

"He made me feel like a regular citizen," says Romero, who came to the U.S. when he was 10. "He didn't look at my color, he didn't look at my position – and he shook my hand."

As Kennedy lay critically wounded in the hotel kitchen,

WHAT REALLY HAPPENED IN L.A. HOTEL KITCHEN

Romero placed rosary beads in his hands. Bobby spoke to him.

"First he asked, 'Is everybody

OK?'" recalls Romero. "I told him, 'Yes, everybody's OK.' And then he turned away from me and said, 'Everything's going to be OK.'"

Of course, it wasn't. Kennedy died 26 hours later at age 42.

Romero says he went to school the next day with RFK's blood still caked under his fingernails because he couldn't bear to wash it away. He soon quit his job at the Ambassador and eventually settled in San Jose, Calif., where, at 65, he still works as a paver.

He's only recently started to come to terms with his heartbreak. After 47 years, he was finally able to take a close look at the historic photo of himself with the dying senator.

When later asked what he saw in it, he said, "I saw a person in need and another person trying to help him."

In 2010, Romero (kneeling) visited RFK's gravesite for the first time

BARBRA STREISAND's marriage is set to explode into a nasty $650 million divorce battle after the jealous diva ordered her flirty hubby, James Brolin, to quit his new TV comedy – and he refused!

The couple's latest clash came after henpecked Brolin, 75, finally ignored the 73-year-old songbird's ultimatum and agreed to play the head of the family in the CBS series Life in Pieces, co-starring Dianne Wiest and Colin Hanks.

"His decision led to a horrendous blowout," says an insider. "Barbra ranted and raved at him."

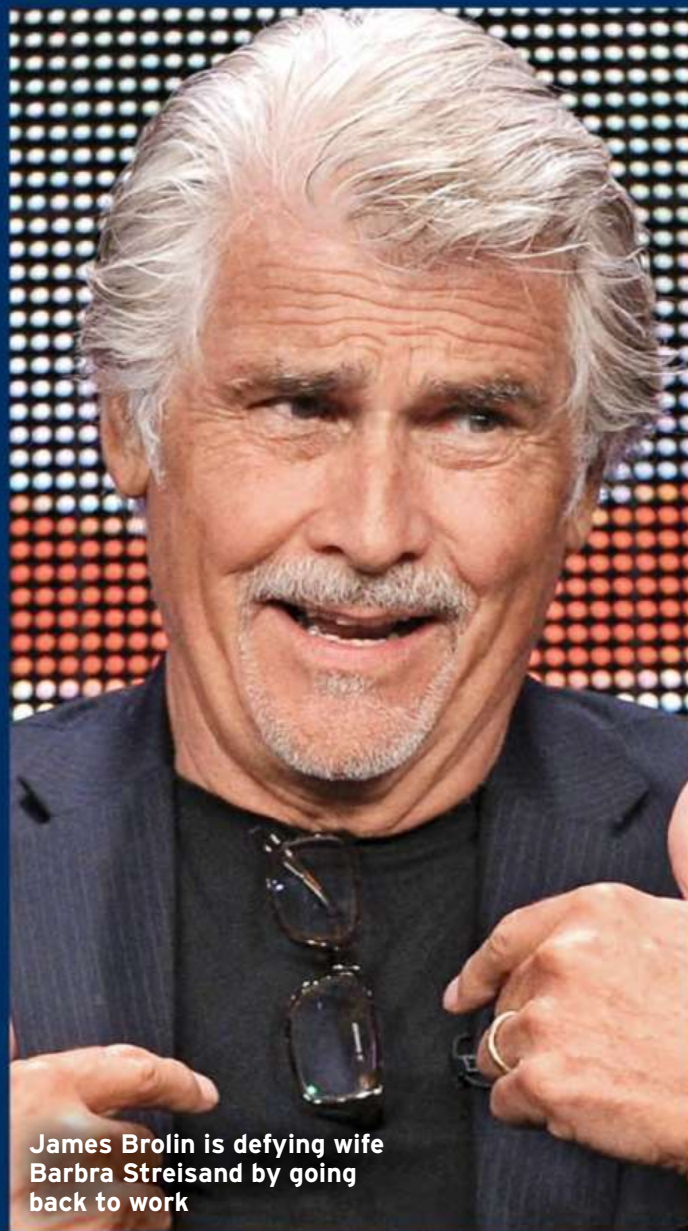

"He loves to flirt with everyone, from production assistants to co-stars. Barbra's told him in no uncertain terms she knows he's unable to stay away from any hot woman."

Adds another source, "Barbra is an extremely jealous person. I'm sure it has to be driving her nuts when James cozies up for publicity shots with Dianne."

According to the insider, the Funny Girl laid down the law after Brolin's appearances on Castle last year where he flirted with stunning series star Stana Katic.

But Streisand's also being a green-eyed monster because Brolin's "in the limelight right now and she's not," says the source.

"Her duet album, Partners, was certified as a platinum hit back in January, but it was released in September 2014."

So Brolin's success is getting under her skin – and he's getting more feisty!

In the past, the singer "called the shots" at home and frequently didn't even bother to consult James "on who they're going to visit, who's coming to dinner – until she tells him how to dress," says the insider.

"But it ticks him off no end. He's told her over and over, and then she just goes on and does what she wants, as if she hasn't heard a word."

"The fact is, he can't stand being around! He jumped at the chance to take his new job – anything that would get him out of the house.

"He told her he was doing the gig, and if she didn't like it, that was her problem."

But he reportedly did try to soften her up by offering to pull some strings so she could direct one of his show's episodes.

"Divorce scares her. She can't stand the thought that, at 73, she'll be sad and lonely for the rest of her life."

White-haired Brolin flirted with Stana Katic on Castle, and cuddles with Dianne Wiest on Life in Pieces

Babs reportedly decides when and if she and Jim go out

Still, their 17-year marriage has been hitting rough patches and this latest clash could finally shove the couple into divorce court, which would cost Streisand a huge chunk of dough.

Streisand is worth an estimated $500 million. She's also expected to earn a $25 million advance for her upcoming autobiography due in 2017 and another $50 million if it's made into a movie, according to sources.

Meanwhile, Brolin, best known for TV's Hotel and Marcus Welby, M.D. — is worth over $145 million, only a fraction of her fortune.

"It's no great secret that their marriage has been on the brink for quite some time," the insider continued. "There's been a lot of very serious problems."

They tried to patch things up during a visit to the Hamptons last year, but Streisand "hit the roof" when she found out that James was ogling reality star Kim Kardashian during a private party, says a source.

That came AFTER Streisand blew a fuse over his friendship with sexy Katic. At one stage, sources say, Brolin was SO fed up, he walked out. But when Streisand had an emotional collapse and begged him, "Take me back," he relented, sources say.

Now, their marriage is being ripped apart by petty jealousy and bitter arguing, sources say.

"James is telling everyone how Barbra is thrilled for him, but, believe me, it's not that simple," says the insider.

"Barbra is the star in this marriage. His show is getting a lot of good buzz and that has to be driving her absolutely crazy.

"It's clear this couple are headed to a monster $650 million divorce."

Medical news YOU can use!

THE BATTLE against Alzheimer's disease has taken two major steps forward, say experts.

A simple saliva test can detect the mind-robbing disease before symptoms even develop – and a new drug slows the rate of mental decline for people suffering with the disease.

Researchers at Canada's University of Alberta looked at the saliva of three groups of people: 35 with normal aging cognition, 25 with mild cognitive impairment and 22 with Alzheimer's.

Using protein analysis technology, they found specific biomarkers in the saliva of those with Alzheimer's or mild cognitive impairment that differed from the normal group.

"Saliva is very easy to collect and transport, which will enhance participation" in testing, says lead researcher Shraddha Sapkota.

Dr. Dean Serzai, director of the Alzheimer's Disease Prevention Program, says that's important because the earlier the disease is detected, "the more we can have an effect on the outcome."

Meanwhile, a promising new drug, solanezumab, targets the clumps of amyloid proteins that build into plaques and interfere with brain cell connections.

It may be the first drug to treat the disease itself rather than just the symptoms, say experts.

Dr. Doug Brown of the British Alzheimer's Society calls the advancements "exciting news."

Watermelon busts belly fat

+ HERE'S a sweet way to banish your belly bulge – eat watermelon! It's an ideal food to help lose weight, particularly stubborn belly fat, say researchers from the University of Kentucky. Participants in a recent study who drank two glasses of watermelon juice a day for eight weeks dropped pounds – and their spare tires – without losing muscle mass. Scientists believe watermelon's belly-busting benefits may be due to the amino acid arginine.

Coffee fights womb cancer

+ There's good news for women who love coffee! Four cups a day could reduce the risk of developing the most common form of womb cancer. Researchers from the Harvard School of Public Health found gals who consume at least four cups of java a day over several years have a 25 percent lower risk of being diagnosed with endometrial cancer. And a bonus? Caffeinated and decaffeinated coffee seem to provide the same cancer-fighting benefits.

HOW TO AVOID MIGRAINE AGONY

Avoiding 'triggers' such as stress and strong odors can help keep the devastating headaches at bay

AMERICAN IDOL champ Jordin Sparks is among the 36 million Americans who suffer from migraines. But she's learned how to beat the pain - and now you can, too!

The Battlefield singer experienced her first migraine shortly after competing on "Idol" in 2007.

"For me, it starts with a dull ache and then all of a sudden it becomes this increasing pain," she explains. "I get an aura on the outside of my eye and then I get nauseous."

When a migraine strikes, Jordin develops a sensitivity to light and sounds

American Idol champ Jordin Sparks suffers from migraines and has to lie down in a dark room until the pain subsides.

Sparks manages her headaches by avoiding "triggers," taking her medication, controlling stress and staying hydrated.

The American Migraine Foundation lists several common issues that spark attacks: weather changes, bright lights, strong odors, processed foods, certain cheeses, citrus fruits, alcohol, sleep deprivation and stress.

While there is no definitive cure for migraines, Jordin advises: "Learn your triggers."

DYING LARRY KING PLANS OWN FUNERAL

TV talker, 81, wants body frozen after Bill Clinton eulogy

TV talk legend Larry King is so certain he's dying, the 81-year-old is planning his own funeral – and can't stop talking about death!

Now, the former CNN host, who suffers from heart problems and other illnesses, has been ordered by his eighth wife, Shawn Southwick, to "knock it off" and stop obsessing about his end because "he started to upset their teenage sons," Chance, 16, and Cannon, 15, says a source.

"He kept saying, 'Listen, I'm not going to be around much longer, boys. Whatever you do, don't let your mother put me in a home,'" Southwick told a source.

King is so "fixated on dying," he and his Mormon wife recently "met with some insurance and lawyer types to go over their family trust," says the source.

The famed interviewer, who was booted from his CNN Larry

King Live show after 25 years in 2010 and replaced by Piers Morgan, also pops Human Growth Hormone pills and is planning his own send-off.

Born Lawrence Harvey Zeiger and raised Jewish, "the funeral service would be at a synagogue, out of respect to his mother," says the source.

King expects a host of the celebs he's met and interviewed to attend and give eulogies. He's counting on former President Bill Clinton to show, too.

"I think Clinton might speak," he says. "I bet he'd do it."

But after the service, King refuses to be hauled off to a grim graveyard to be buried.

Instead, he has opted for cryonics, having his body frozen and maintained for the day he might be brought back to life by advanced future medicine.

"He has arranged to have his body frozen and then thawed out when researchers discover a cure for whatever killed him," says the source.

Ironically, King believes the people who support cryonics are "nuts."

"But at least if he knows he will be frozen, he will die with a shred of hope," says the source.

Aside from Father Time, King's greatest health enemy is his heart. His dad died of a

Larry wants to be frozen instead of buried and hopes Bill Clinton will speak at his funeral service heart attack when the star was just 9 years old and "that is what probably initiated his own death obsession," says the source.

Notes King, "I took that as my father abandoning me."

While he has suffered from prostate cancer and is diabetic, he's been battling heart disease for nearly three decades. He suffered a heart attack at age 53 in 1987 and later that year had quintuple bypass surgery.

A decade later, he underwent angioplasty to remove a blockage. Then in 2007, surgeons removed another blockage in his carotid artery.

With heart problems haunting his daily life, King regularly talks about those he wants at his funeral and the one person who will be banned – his TV replacement, Piers Morgan.

King bitterly concedes he was fired by CNN. Prior to his departure, the network had given him three year contracts, but that last time, they only offered a one-year pact.

Larry with wife Shawn and sons Cannon and Chance

"I saw it as the writing on the wall," he says.

He was replaced by snooty Morgan, who has called King a "poisonous twerp" and a "graceless, petty little man."

But King got the last laugh when Morgan's CNN gig was canceled after just three years.

Still, he has regrets – like having prostate cancer surgery that ended his ability "to get it up." At the time, cancer survivor Joe Torre, former manager of the New York Yankees, told him, "What would you rather do, have sex or die?"

His answer now is he wants to die in bed – with another guy's wife!

JANE SEYMOUR, 64, FINDS LOVE AGAIN!

TV's Dr. Quinn, Jane Seymour, has found the best medicine for a broken heart - falling in love all over again!

The 64-year-old English rose, who has confessed it was not her idea to divorce actor/director James Keach three years ago, has been swept off her feet by British producer and director David Green.

The actress as Dr. Quinn in her beloved TV western

"We almost worked together 35 years ago and we saw each other socially once in a while over the years," says the four-times-divorced Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman dazzler. "We both realized we were single about a year and a half ago.

"We made a mutual move on each other over lunch. It's nice to date another Brit in America, as we share the same sense of humor and culture and have shared friends. His friend is married to my oldest friend."

So are wedding bells going to chime for the fifth time with her 66-year-old knight in shining armor?

"I'm not going to answer that," says Jane, who divorced amid rampant rumors that Keach cheated on her. However, the actress, who played opposite Roger Moore in 1973's Live and Let Die as Bond girl Solitaire, isn't holding a grudge. She says she gets along fine with all her exes.

"They are all friends and joke about the time they spent with me," Jane confides. "We have been able to accept what happened while not forgetting the good times we had."

NEW DRUG MAY CURE PAM'S HEPATITIS C

A BRAND new drug could be just what the doctor ordered for Baywatch babe Pamela Anderson to finally beat hepatitis C, the deadly liver disease that's plagued the blonde for 16 years.

The Striperella actress' docs have prescribed a new FDA-approved drug regimen that promises to wipe out the virus. She says the treatment has given her a new lease on life.

Hepatitis C "was a death sentence" just 16 years ago, says Anderson, 48, who claims she caught the bug from a tattoo needle.

"Thanks to the new drug I could be hep C free within a month...it was a real blessing that I was able to get the medicine," says the Barbed Wire star.

"I actually look in the mirror every day and I feel like I'm looking younger."

YOUR HOROSCOPE

For the week of September 21 – September 27

by Emily Hamer-West

ARIES March 21 - April 20

Friend with benefits takes on a new meaning during Monday's Sagittarius moon, when a pal offers you a vacation home for a getaway. You've got cold feet over a marriage proposal - it's wise to think things over. A meeting at a music venue this weekend can lead to a profitable partnership.

TAURUS April 21 - May 21

Mercury and Mars going head-to-head could draw you into a verbal sparring match - steel yourself for trouble! Block out time for "nothing" on your calendar - overdoing it is the road to exhaustion. Look for a long-term solution to a home repair problem - a Virgo has the answer you need!

GEMINI May 22 - June 21

Cash flow slows to a drip - live within your means now or you'll pay the consequences later! Ask a Capricorn friend for advice on thrifty living and look for free activities to do with your family. And relax, Twin, this is temporary! Step up when someone at work or a neighbor has a family crisis.

CANCER June 22 - July 22

You'd like to play judge and jury and then pass sentence in a family dispute, but Saturn warns: Leave this to others. There's a chance for big money coming up, so pay attention. Shop an estate sale on Saturday to find new art for your home at pennies on the dollar!

LEO July 23 - August 23

Someone you spend a lot of time with has a new hobby - pushing your buttons. Time to call a truce, Leo. With Mercury in Libra the answer could be written in a self-help article. Don't give in to pressure to make firm plans for the holiday season.

VIRGO August 24 - September 22

Are you ready to be the star in your own life? Jupiter jumpstarts your motivation and you're inspired to take a risk! Will you succeed? The stars say yes, and your growing bank account is proof positive. Coupled Virgos enjoy a superbly romantic rendezvous.

LIBRA September 23 - October 23

You've been singing a sad country song, convinced you'll never find love. But Venus opens your heart and eyes to the one who has been there all along - the next move is up to you! Stop worrying about a health issue. It's not as bad as you think! The mail brings a surprise from a far-flung ex.

SCORPIO October 24 - November 22

Tell your partner and pals not to worry, you're not down-in-the-dumps. You just want to be alone to carefully consider your next moves, everything from home decor to where to vacation! Be cash cautious and go over your budget while the moon's in Capricorn midweek.

SAGITTARIUS November 23 - December 21

Stop! Before pouring out your feelings, remember not everyone keeps secrets the way honest Archers do, and what you're sharing isn't necessarily something you want made public. Start a journal, with a lock! Filling out financial paperwork is a bore, but it brings a windfall on Saturday!

CAPRICORN December 22 - January 20

Nobody stomps on your feelings this week! But slow down. You could be taking something the wrong way, starting much ado over nothing. Venus and Pluto clashing sparks a bout of the blues. Go see a comedy or dance the night away with pals! Luck finds you Sunday, so enter a contest!

AQUARIUS January 21 - February 18

An opportunity that demands an instant decision could put your finances at risk - read the fine print before you sign. Attitude is everything in romance. Believe you're worthy and love will find you now. An idea can make big bucks - an entrepreneur helps make this dream a reality!

PISCES February 19 - March 20

Travel is starred this week. Start saving for a dream vacation. You have a sudden urge for a break from your partner, but don't worry, it's just the planets at war. Keep it cool and don't do anything you'll regret! Your health needs the boost daily exercise can provide - get moving for more energy!

DIRTY SECRETS DEAN JONES TOOK TO GRAVE

DEAN Jones played the goofy, clean-cut good guy in some of the biggest Disney films of the 1960s and '70s – but his public image was a shocking lie!

Despite having all the trappings of fame, the actor – who died Sept. 1 at age 84 – was depressed and suicidal. He turned to alcohol and cheated on his wife to cope with stardom.

'Confessed'

"It was a fast track life," Dean confessed before his death from Parkinson's disease. "I was making $50,000 a week. I had the Ferraris and beautiful women...and my life was empty. Really empty."

Dean, who starred in movies including The Shaggy D.A. and The Love Bug series, hid his self-destructive behavior from the world. The star of TV's Ensign O'Toole even had Walt Disney hoodwinked.

"'Dean, you're a perfect fit for these pictures. You're such a good family man!'" Dean said Disney once told him.

"I wasn't a good family man," Dean later said. "I was showing up at home smelling of perfume that wasn't my wife's."

His first marriage collapsed. His depression worsened. Then, a few months after marrying second wife Lory Patrick in 1973, the boozier reached his breaking point when he was nearly killed in a drunk-driving accident. He finally cried out for help – from God.

"The night that my life changed instantly," he said.

Dean remained dedicated to his faith, as well as acting, until his death. He and Lory also raised foster children and founded a charity to help persecuted Christians and Jews around the world.

KEITH RICHARDS TRASHES STONES!

GUITAR legend Keith Richards blasts that he can't get no satisfaction with the Rolling Stones – who haven't done studio work in 10 years – which is why he was so eager to release his solo album, Crossed Heart, this month.

Calling the Stones "a painful democracy," the bad boy brands Mick Jagger a stand-offish "snob."

And the frontman is "preoccupied" and "really boring," says Richards, who claims Mick's "a control freak. He lost himself a bit in the details."

Spreading the poison around, Richards tears into heavy metal, declaring, "Millions are in love with Metallica and Black Sabbath. I just thought they were great jokes." As for rap and hip-hop, he says, "What rap did that was impressive – showing there are so many tone-deaf people out there."

SUSAN SARANDON DUMPED FOR YOUNGER GAL, 64

AWARD-winning actress Susan Sarandon is heartbroken after her former toy boy beau tossed her aside for a younger – and richer – cougar!

In recent months, the 68-year-old Thelma & Louise star seemed to be rekindling her sputtering five-year romance with Ping-Pong entrepreneur Jonathan Bricklin, 38.

But now he's hot on the tail of Pablo Picasso's 64-year-old granddaughter, Marina.

'Pretty hurt'

"Susan is pretty hurt by Jonathan," says a source. "They had been spending time together again, then he left for Paris to hang with Marina."

Sarandon hooked up with Bricklin following the end of her long relationship with actor Tim Robbins.

She invested in Bricklin's New York table tennis-themed club, SPiN, and everything seemed hunky-dory until last March when he signed on for the AOL reality show Connected, which documents relationships.

The actress wanted no part of the series and sent Bricklin packing. But early this summer, the two were spotted acting "very much in love" during a visit to a Big Apple

Sarandon and Jonathan Bricklin were spotted early this summer looking 'very much in love'

Now, Marina Picasso has captured Bricklin's lust for rich, older women. Though she barely knew her famous grandfather, she did inherit 20 percent of his estate, including some 10,000 pieces of his art. This year, she started selling off $290 million worth of his artwork.

Marina opened up an orphanage in Vietnam with some of her inheritance and is reportedly selling off more of her collection for other charitable causes.

Sources say she's also investing in Bricklin's latest Ping-Pong venture – in San Francisco – and possibly his proposed indoor surf club.

LEGENDARY wrestler Jimmy “Superfly” Snuka has been pinned with a murder rap – he’s finally been charged with brutally beating his former mistress to a pulp 32 years ago.

A grand jury indicted the 72-year-old ring Hall of Famer for the murder and involuntary manslaughter of Nancy Argentino on May 11, 1983.

Top Hollywood private eye Paul Huebl noted that explosive new evidence – and Snuka’s stomach cancer – likely means he will die behind bars.

“This proves that even after 32 years, there can still be justice,” says the former Chicago cop.

Now, Snuka is trying to beat the rap by claiming he’s mentally incompetent from all the shots to the head he’s taken in the ring over the years. He showed up in court in a wheelchair and hooked to a feeding tube.

“Ask him a question and he smiles and nods,” says his lawyer William E. Moore. “Ask him enough questions and he’ll admit to the Kennedy assassination.”

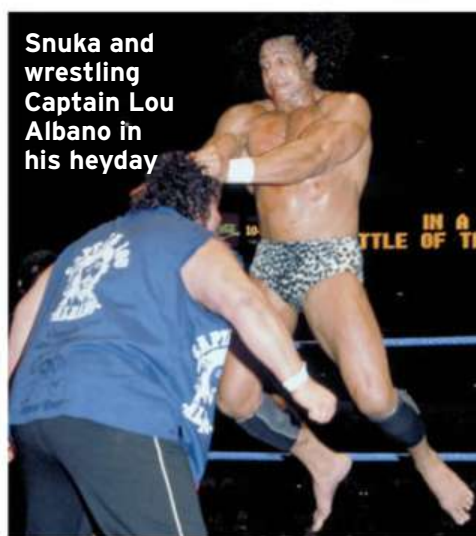

But in 1983, the grappler, who was married with four kids, called paramedics to the motel room in Whitehall Township, Pa., he shared with galpal Argentino. The 23-year-old beauty was found unconscious and died shortly afterward in the hospital.

Snuka, then 39, told cops she had fallen while walking on a street the previous night and he found her unconscious when he returned from a wrestling match.

But that was one of at least

SEVEN versions of events he gave over the years.

The autopsy found she was covered with 39 cuts and bruises from head to toe that were “suggestive of ‘mate’ abuse.”

Prosecutors recently told the grand jury that Snuka had beaten Argentino and then neglected to call for medical help for at least 12 hours.

“The grand jury was finally presented with all the versions Snuka told over the years, plus the CSI evidence and a blockbuster autopsy report,” notes Huebl.

“They determined there was enough evidence to send Snuka to trial. Prosecutors say the wrestler gave his girlfriend the kind of beatdown he used on his ring foes, then purposely left her to slowly die for 12 hours while he went drinking with two other buddies.

“When he came back Nancy was catatonic and dripping spinal fluid from her nose and mouth. She had traumatic brain injury and she died.”

NEW COPS CALLED TO SAVE LAURA!

STUNNING Callie Thorne has been hired to rescue the second season of NBC's struggling crime drama The Mysteries of Laura.

Callie, who played Sheila Keefe on Rescue Me from 2004 to 2011, will first appear in the Sept. 23 premiere as the new no-nonsense precinct Captain Nancy Santiani.

Detective Laura Diamond, played by Will & Grace's Debra Messing, uses the derogatory nickname SANTINY for the captain, due to her petite 5-foot-3 frame.

Single moms Diamond and Santiani clash constantly and can't even bear to be in the same room together – but have to put their differences aside to concentrate on their task of tracking down killers.

Producers are also bringing in Gabriel Mann – who played dashing dresser Nolan Ross on ABC's Revenge – for a guest arc.

FRASIER BEAUTY STINGS SCORPION

FRASIER star Peri Gilpin is joining the Department of Homeland Security on the second season of the hit new show Scorpion.

The 54-year-old actress will be recurring in the role of the department's new deputy director, Katherine Cooper.

Since ending her 11-year stint as Roz Doyle on Frasier, Gilpin has starred in shows like Make It or Break It and the comedy Men at Work, and she's guested on CSI.

Scorpion returns Sept. 21 on CBS. Look for Gilpin to pop up in the fourth episode.

DESTINY'S CHILD STAR BUILDING AN EMPIRE!

SONGBIRD Kelly Rowland joins FOX's blockbuster hip-hop drama Empire on Sept. 23 as mom to a guy 12 years her senior - in flashbacks!

The 34-year-old former Destiny's Child singer and "The X Factor" judge has been cast as the mother of rap mogul Lucious Lyon, who's played by 46-year-old Terrence Howard.

In the first season, the series often featured Lucious and his ex-wife Cookie's stormy past life before they built their music empire and she went to jail. Now, viewers will go back even further, to Lucious' childhood.

The new season also includes guest appearances from Chris Rock, Lenny Kravitz and Marisa Tomei.

Meanwhile, as GLOBE previously reported, Cookie (Taraji P. Henson) will have a new man in her life - CSI: Miami hunk Adam Rodriguez.

STAR POWER ROCKS THE VOICE

THE VOICE returns this week on NBC, with a constellation full of megastars on its ninth season mentor list.

Missy Elliott, who upstaged Katy Perry with her throw-back hip-hop hit Get Ur Freak On during the 2015 Super Bowl, is the newest addition, announced in late August as the advisor for judge Pharrell Williams' team.

Elliott and Williams join Selena Gomez with Gwen Stefani's squad, Brad Paisley is on Blake Shelton's side and ex

Creedence Clearwater Revival frontman John Fogerty will be helping Adam Levine's crew.

Perhaps the biggest "get" for the star-studded singing show is Rihanna, who will serve as a key advisor to all the contestants just as Taylor Swift has in the past.

"This is one of music's true supervisors coming on board to influence the lives and careers of the performers," says NBC Entertainment chairman Bob Greenblatt of RiRi coming to The Voice.

Tell us why these pix DON'T exactly match and win...

There are three differences between these photos. If you spot them correctly - and your entry is the first chosen at random - GLOBE will send you $100. Simply identify the three differences between the photographs in a letter or postcard and send it to us at the address listed in the official rules on page 47.

DID YOU GUESS?

The celebrity prancing around on page 47 is none other than former Glee star Jane Lynch. How'd you do?

GLOBE WINNERS

RETIRED architect Tony Falo drew up all the right answers to GLOBE's Spot the Differences puzzle No. 33 and took home the $300 grand prize.

The 86-year-old grandfather from Lady Lake, Fla., still enjoys playing softball and plans to use his winnings for a trip to Kansas to visit family.

The five lucky $25 winners are: Mary Neu, Waukegan, Ill.; Olivia Morris, Baltimore, Md.; Ethyle Giuseppe, Stanardsville, Va.; Lorraine Messina, Mineola, N.Y.; and Lois Barber, Mesa, Ariz.

I DITCHED MY HUBBY TO WED SERIAL KILLER

Lady lawyer's bizarre Death Row romance

LOVE can be as blind as justice! Just ask former Florida public defender Rosalie Martinez, who dumped her wealthy attorney husband and four young daughters to marry convicted serial killer Oscar Bolin Jr.

The two met when Rosalie visited Bolin in his Death Row cell in 1995.

"I felt his isolation, his confinement, his loneliness," she recalls. "It affected me because I felt the same way. And it left me breathless."

Strong attraction

The attraction was so strong that Rosalie left her family for the fiend. She also lost her job as public defender after prison officials accused her of having sex with Bolin in his cell.

In 1996, her husband divorced her, winning full custody of their girls, who ranged in age from 6 to 14 at the time. Later that year, Rosalie and Bolin tied the knot by phone, she in her Gainesville apartment and he at Florida State Prison in Raiford.

Despite the obvious barriers – and the fact that they've never consummated their marriage since he's not allowed conjugal visits – Rosalie feels loved.

"He listens. He's

there completely, 100 percent. He's not distracted. Nothing is more important than I am."

Of course, Bolin also gave his undivided attention to his three victims – in a much more sinister way. The brute stabbed to death Natalie Holley, 25, Teri Matthews, 26, and Stephanie Collins, 17, before dumping their bodies like trash in the Tampa area.

Bolin pleaded guilty to gunpoint rape, but he denies killing anyone. And even though his murder convictions have been upheld time and again in retrials, Rosalie remains convinced he's innocent.

"I never, never ever thought for a second that he was guilty of those three murders," she told ABC's 20/20.

And while she continues to fight for his release, she cherishes every letter she receives from him.

Says Rosalie, "I think the art of lovemaking is probably in these cards."

When You Can't Be There 24/7, We Will Be

"I did not wake up when my husband called to me...nor when the alarm went off. Your employee activated the alarm...and stayed on the phone with my husband until the paramedics arrived. My husband wears his Medical Alert always and we both feel so much more secure knowing that a person will be there for us. I heartily recommend the Medical Alert button for everyone."

— Carol C., Wife

"I wish to thank you for saving my boyfriend's 90 year old mother this week. She is going blind and has balance problems...and this week she took a very bad fall... and hit her head very hard. She's a very tough lady, and managed to bite down on the wrist monitor she wears and received quick response, because she had the BEST COMPANY protecting her. From the bottom of my heart, we want to thank everyone at Medical Alert... the system really works well!"

— Judi M., Daughter-In-Law

"I was out of town with no cell phone reception and the 2nd contact (a neighbor) was on vacation when my mother fell and hit her head. She pushed the Medical Alert button, who promptly called us, and when we didn't answer, contacted the local fire department. Mom would have laid on the floor for two days before I got home and probably would have bled to death without her button. Medical Alert saved her life."

— Frances A., Son

"Liz was having heart failure and we pushed the button. We had help in less than 10 minutes! Liz is 95 years old and loves her help on call. Thank you for saving my clients!"

— Peggy R., Caretaker

We know you want to be there for your loved ones, but sometimes it's hard to juggle all your responsibilities. With Medical Alert they get round the clock monitoring and simple push button calls to our emergency operators. You get peace of mind knowing someone is always there.

Help at the Push of a Button

TV METH DEALER TURNS INTO LBJ!

BREAKING BAD star Bryan Cranston makes the leap from TV's favorite meth dealer to Commander-in-Chief as he takes on the role of President Lyndon Baines Johnson!

And his resemblance to LBJ is almost as chilling as his coldhearted drug-cooking character Walter White.

"Physically and emotionally, Bryan completely channels LBJ," gushes Jay Roach, who is directing the four-time Emmy winner in All the Way, the HBO adaptation of a Broadway play about Johnson.

Roach was blown away while shooting an early scene featuring Cranston and Lady Bird Johnson, played by Melissa Leo.

"We filmed him and Lady

The four-time Emmy winner says his ordinary looks allow him to be chameleon-like in taking on roles, including his stunning transformation into LBJ

Bryan Cranston as Walter White on Breaking Bad

Bird in the Oval Office, just after JFK's assassination," says Roach. "He's overwhelmed. In spiritual support, Lady Bird touches his cheek. We melted, like we went back in time and witnessed a private, heart-wrenching moment between these two great people."

Transformation

Cranston, 59, already has a lot of practice playing the 36th president. He won a Tony award in the role on Broadway. And he says his ordinary looks helped him with the transformation.

"My looks aren't striking, so therefore I'm more capable of sliding into looking like other people," he explains.

"I'm more chameleon-like, as opposed to, let's say, Mad Men's Jon Hamm, who is this handsome, striking, black-haired, chiseled-looking guy."

WHY CATE BLANCHETT LOVES LUCY!

EVERYBODY loves Lucy - including Cate Blanchett!

The Australian actress is set to portray beloved TV legend Lucille Ball in an upcoming biopic written by The West Wing's Aaron Sorkin. The flick will focus on the red-headed comedienne's 20-year marriage to Cuban bandleader Desi Arnaz, who also played her hubby on the small screen.

I Love Lucy, which ran from 1951 to 1957, was the most-watched TV show in the U.S. for four of its six seasons. Syndicated episodes in America still draw an annual audience of 40 million viewers.

Cate, 46, is no stranger to playing real-life legends. She won her first Oscar for her turn as Katharine Hepburn in The Aviator.

Her husband, theater director Andrew Upton, says talks about Cate's role in the Lucy film have been going on "for a while."

"It's a project that is dear to Cate's heart and a great story to tell," he adds.

FLASHBACK

BETTE DAVIS' EYES FOR ERROL

WARNER Bros. superstars BETTE DAVIS and ERROL FLYNN cuddle while playing England's Queen Elizabeth and her stormy love, the Earl of Essex, in the 1939 drama The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex. Ironically, the characters' love-hate relationship seeped into real life as diva Bette looked down her nose at the notorious swashbuckler, who she said was "beautiful" but knew "absolutely nothing about acting." Later, Flynn confessed she smacked him around so hard during one scene Bette made him "vomit" twice!

Our Zambian
emeralds have never been priced this low

Nearly two carats of genuine natural emerald for under $100...quite simply astounding.

Stauer has cracked the emerald code. For centuries, the finest emeralds in the world were found exclusively in Columbia. The legendary deposits in Muzo and Chivor set the standard for these gorgeous green gems. But this recent find in Africa, has South America looking over its shoulder. And, thanks to a massive buy by Stauer, you can own these history-making African emeralds for a historically low price.

The Zambian Emerald Blossom Ring lets you bring home almost two carats of genuine Zambian emeralds for the unbelievable price of $95!

Finding emeralds with the right combination of translucence and color—for a spectacular price—has been almost impossible... until now.

So, how did we do it? There I was cooling off with an ice cold whisky sour beneath a cabana at the Livingstone Imperial when in he strode—the gem trader. He sauntered over in a crisp white suit. With a wink and tip of his Panama hat he let me know he had the goods—we purchased over 5,000 carats! We raised our glasses to our good fortune. Now it's time to toast yours.

The apex of emeralds, Zambian emeralds stand out with a vivid, rich color. These stunning African stones are also less porous and brittle than their South American brothers. We realized immediately how rare it is to find emeralds of this quality and clarity for such an incredible price.

Our timely and substantial investment means big savings for you. You could easily pay as much as $25,000 for one carat of fine Colombian emeralds. But why? Now is the time to seize the green!

Your satisfaction is 100% guaranteed. Experience the ravishing beauty of the Zambian Emerald Blossom Ring for 60 days and if you're not completely delighted, send it back for a full refund of your purchase price.
